

Course Name: Electrical Safety for General Industry

Course Description: Every year tens of thousands of people are injured or killed from electrical shocks/contacts in the United States. Employees are exposed to dangers such as electric shock, electrocution, burns, fires and explosions. It is essential to understand that how electricity is lethal for us and how we can save our lives. This course gives you a basic understanding of prevention and elimination of work-related illnesses and injuries.

Course Length: 1 hour

Prerequisites: None

Course Content:

- Explore electrical hazards that may be present at a workplace
- Learn about types of injuries that may result from contact with electricity
- Find out methods of protection from electrical hazards
- Study training and other essential factors associated with electrical safety

Testing:

Quizzes - All quizzes must be passed with a 70% to proceed forward to the next lesson. Final Exam must be passed with a 70% to pass the course.

